

Requirements for Minor in Political Science for 2021 Academic Year and Onward

Political Theory Division

Required Courses (14 credits):

- Political Science (I) (3 credits)
- Political Science (II) (3 credits)
- Comparative Government and Politics (I) (2 credits)
- Comparative Government and Politics (II) (2 credits)
- The Constitution & Government of the Republic of China (I) (2 credits)
- The Constitution & Government of the Republic of China (II) (2 credits)

Starting from the 2025/26 academic year, the course "Comparative Government (I)(II)" can be used as a substitute.

Elective Courses:

In addition to the required courses listed above, students must complete 10 credits from designated electives for this division. Courses marked as year-long require only one semester's completion to count towards the minor credits:

- Introduction to International Relations (I) (2 credits)
- Introduction to International Relations (II) (2 credits)
- Public Administration (I) (2 credits)
- Public Administration (II) (2 credits)
- Social Statistics (4 credits)
- Economics (b)(I) (2 credits)
- Economics (b)(II) (2 credits)
- Research Methods of Social Science (2 credits)
- Research Methods of Social Science (2 credits)
- Western Political Philosophy (I) (2 credits)
- Western Political Philosophy (II)(2 credits)
- The Political Economy of Development in Taiwan (2 credits)
- Chinese Political Philosophy (I) (2 credits)
- Chinese Political Philosophy (II) (2 credits)
- Introduction to History, Introduction to Anthropology, Introductory Sociology, General Psychology, Elementary Logic (choose one) (3 credits)
- Comparative Government and Politics (I) (2 credits)
- Chinese Politics / The Political Economy of People's Republic of China (choose one) (2 credits)
- Modern Political Thought (4 credits)

International Relations Division

Required Courses (12 credits):

- Political Science (I) (3 credits)
- Political Science (II) (3 credits)
- International Law (I) (2 credits)
- International Law (II) (2 credits)
- Theory of International Politics I (2 credits)

Elective Courses:

In addition to the required courses listed above, students must complete 12 credits from designated electives for this division. Courses marked as year-long require only one semester's completion to count towards the minor credits:

- Introduction to International Relations (I) (2 credits)
- Introduction to International Relations (II) (2 credits)
- Public Administration (I) (2 credits)
- Public Administration (II) (2 credits)
- The Constitution & Government of the Republic of China (I) (2 credits)
- The Constitution & Government of the Republic of China (II) (2 credits)
- Comparative Government and Politics (I) (2 credits)
- Comparative Government and Politics (II) (2 credits)
- Social Statistics (4 credits)
- Economics (b)(I) (2 credits)
- Economics (b)(II) (2 credits)
- History of International Relations (I) (2 credits)
- History of International Relations (II) (2 credits)
- Foreign Relations of R.O.C (2 credits)
- Introduction to Western Political Philosophy (2 credits)
- The Decision Making and Analysis of Foreign Policy (2 credits)
- Introduction to Chinese Political Philosophy (2 credits)
- International Organizations (2 credits)
- Chinese Politics / The Political Economy of People's Republic of China (choose one) (2 credits)
- Issues in International Economics and Trade(2 credits)

Public Administration DivisionRequired Courses (14 credits):

- Political Science (I) (3 credits)
- Political Science (II) (3 credits)
- Public Administration (I) (2 credits)
- Public Administration (II) (2 credits)
- Administrative Law (I) (2 credits)
- Administrative Law (II) (2 credits)

Elective Courses:

In addition to the required courses listed above, students must complete 10 credits from designated electives for this division. Courses marked as year-long require only one semester's completion to count towards the minor credits:

- Introduction to International Relations (I) (2 credits)
- Introduction to International Relations (II) (2 credits)
- The Constitution & Government of the Republic of China (I) (2 credits)
- The Constitution & Government of the Republic of China (II) (2 credits)
- Comparative Government and Politics (I) (2 credits)
- Comparative Government and Politics (II) (2 credits)
- Social Statistics (4 credits)
- Economics (b)(I) (2 credits)
- Economics (b)(II) (2 credits)
- Human Resources Management in the Public Sector (2 credits)
- LOCAL GOVERNMENT AND MANAGEMENT (2 credits)
- Introduction to Legal Science(2 credits)
- Research Methods of Social Science(2 credits)
- Introduction to Western Political Philosophy (2 credits)
- Financial Managementt (2 credits)
- Public Policy (I) (2 credits)
- Public Policy (li) (2 credits)
- Public Management (2 credits)
- Nonprofit Organization Management (2 credits)
- Digital Government for Public Management (2 credits)
- Public Opinion Survey (2 credits)
- Cost-benefit Analysis (2 credits)
- Applied Regression Analysis (2 credits)
- Chinese Politics / The Political Economy of People's Republic of China (choose one) (2 credits)